

On December 15, 2010, the Board of the Petersburg City Public Schools recognized secondary grade level students who passed the most recent round of the SOL tests. (Not all students who passed the SOLS appear in the photographs.)

Above: PCPS students who attend the Governor's Schools, along with Petersburg High School students.

Above: Vernon Johns Junior High School students.

Peabody Middle School students

Walnut Hill Elementary School students who passed the SOLs also received recognition that night.

R.E. Lee teacher Cate Sirles (above, left, with Board Member Dr. Elsie Jarmon) was recognized as the first PCPS teacher to earn National Board Certification – a complex, two-year training course.

The Board also saluted the Petersburg High School Varsity Football Team for a great season.

The Peabody Middle School Lady Lions were recognized for winning the Fall Line District Championship for the fourth straight year.